3.10 Risk

- a. The Fund invests in a portfolio of money market investments such as, spread transactions, Carry Over Transactions, investment grade securities; money market instruments and short maturity reverse repurchase transactions. Such investments are subject to varying degrees of risk. The risk emanates from various factors that include, but are not limited to:

- Inability of the issuer of the instrument, the relevant financial institution or the counter party in the case of reverse repurchase or other arrangement to fulfill their obligations.
- Increase in lending rates as a result of a change in the supply and demand of liquidity in the market or on account of an increase of the underlying inflation rate.
- Break down of law and order, war, natural disasters, etc.
- Senior rights of other creditors.
- Volatility in prices resulting from their dependence on market sentiment, speculative activity, supply and demand for the securities and the liquidity in the market. The volatility in securities' prices results in volatility in the NAV based price of the Unit.
- The possibility of defaults by participants or failure of the financial markets/ stock exchanges, the depositories, the settlements or the clearing system.
- Any governmental or court orders restraining payment of principal or income.

Investment in this fund is suitable for investors who have the ability to take the risks associated with financial market investments. Capital invested in the financial markets could in extreme circumstances lose its entire value. However, diversification of the investment into a number of debt securities, money market instruments and repurchase transactions tends to reduce the risk substantially. The historical performance of this Fund, the financial markets or that of any one security or transaction included in the Fund's portfolio does not necessarily indicate future performance.

Prices of Units and income from them may go down as well as up.

- b. Under extraordinary circumstances (refer to clause 5.4 of this Offering Document) the Management Company may declare suspension of redemptions, invoke a queue system or announce winding up of the Fund. In such events the investor is likely to have to wait for payment beyond the normal period and the redemption amount so determined may be lower than the price at the time the redemption request was lodged.

Through a portfolio of rigorously screened and monitored stocks, debt securities and short-term instruments, a balanced fund gives the investment a chance to perform two important jobs, to grow in value and to produce income for periodic distribution.

The investment goal of UTP is to provide to its investors long-term capital appreciation and current income while at the same time attempting to preserve the invested principal and providing almost immediate access to the money if investors redeem their units.

The offer for public subscription was made from October 27, 1997, through an Offering Document and as subsequently amended by a Supplemental Offering Document dated January 16, 2001.

UTP continuously offers new units to investors for subscription and the units are open for redemption. The units can also be transferred. The units issued by UTP are listed on the Lahore Stock Exchange.
